

May 2008 sees the launch of the new Orion website which has been redesigned and updated. It has been re-launched with a vibrant new look, new content and showpieces the Orion StarC Carbon reporting tool.

Orion StarC enables organisations to easily and accurately identify and report on their Carbon footprint. Simply incorporate the Orion StarC calculator within your existing systems and the Carbon footprint is automatically calculated and reported. By using existing relevant commercial and operational data from within your system very little setup and maintenance is needed.

Talking about the website, John Whitehorn commented: "We are delighted with the new website. It represents our specialist approach to logistics IT and reflects our long-term strategic plan to become the leading logistics IT solutions provider. As well as aligning the design of the site with our fresh new branding, we wanted to update the content to reflect the comprehensive range of solutions we offer."
